Senior Art Director, Atlanta, GA

With a proven track record of innovation and a passion for aesthetic excellence, I seek a Senior Graphic Design position in a setting where great work and craftsmanship are an everyday expectation.

With more than 20 years working on design projects for major corporations, mid-size, and small companies, the types of projects on which I've worked has spanned everything from everyday and unusual digital and print media to museum displays and environmental graphics. Anyone in the Atlanta and several other major urban communities across the United States has seen a sample of my branding work at one time or another in print, on billboards, and on thousands of cars.

I've managed a staff of a major commercial printing department, taught advanced design courses, and lectured creatives as well as digital artists. An author as well as contributor to several of the top "how-to" books over the last 20 years, my love of the creative process is revealed through bold, confident work full of elegant color and shape no matter the medium.
